DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anderson, Jr. et al. (US Patent 6,464,381) in view of Fleming (US Patent 4,104,555).

With respect to claim 1, Anderson, Jr. et al. teaches an automotive interior component for a passenger cabin of a vehicle, comprising a moldable body 20 adapted to be attached to a portion of the passenger cabin 10 and an electroluminescent lamp 12 integrally molded with the body to define a unitary assembly (Column 4, Lines 57-65). However, Anderson, Jr. et al. fails to teach the moldable body to be a polymer. Fleming teaches an automotive interior component for a passenger cabin of a vehicle (Column 1, Lines 19-22) comprising an electroluminescent lamp 11 integrally molded to a polymer body 18 to define a unitary assembly (Column 2, Lines 20-20-31). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to specify the moldable material of Anderson, Jr. et al. to be a polymer from the teachings of Fleming because polymers are inexpensive, strong, durable, and easily moldable.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 2, 3, and 5-9 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-5 of copending Application No. 10/711,385. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention would have recognized the bolster would engage an opening in a door trim panel.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claims 10-12 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 9-11 of copending Application No. 10/711,463. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention would have recognized that a speaker grill is an automotive interior component in a mold that could also be shaped to resemble a bolster.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Jaggi (US 2005/0140167) teaches an interior trim panel with injection molded parts.
